Aim

Our website uses cookies as part of the normal functioning of our website. These are for general purposes only, for example to store your preferred display language, and the information we gather cannot be used to identify you as an individual.

In addition to your preference settings, we use Google Analytics to track the use of our website. We do not use any other third party cookies. By using this website you consent to the processing of these data by Google Analytics.

For more information about cookies and the type of cookies our website uses, see the frequently asked questions we have prepared below.

Policy

What is a cookie?

A cookie is a small text file which is generated by a website and stored in a folder on your computer. The cookie stored is unique to your computer.

Why are cookies needed?

Session cookies help to make websites work better. For example the page layout you see may be changed depending on whether you are using a mobile telephone or a desktop computer. When you leave the site the cookie is deleted.

What cookies does Corpus Christi use?

In addition to ‘session cookies’ which store your preferences, the website at www.ccc.ox.ac.uk uses Google Analytics to record visits and use behaviors. This helps us to identify which parts of the website are popular and which are less so.
