ENDORSEMENTS

“Congratulations on a splendid achievement. I do envy you what you are able to do with sticks and bristles. What a miracle painting is!”

Bill Bryson, Author.

“Ian gets to the very heart of the place through emotions, artistry and his paintings.”

Jan Morris, Author.

“The watercolour by Ian Davis of the Corpus Christi Chapel (Painting 1) is simply superb. The perspective he has cleverly chosen, along with discreet features being transformed here and there, participate in conveying quiet anticipation and trust. The interior is radiant, the Chapel filled with light.”

Stephanie Burette, College Chaplain, Corpus Christi College.

“Davis is a gifted water-colour artist and pays tribute to evanescent experiences a number of times, of which the most engaging is the picture of the entrance to Corpus Christi College, with a girl (almost identifiable) reading a letter from a boyfriend, possibly (1993). Now she would be reading a text on a smart phone!”

Bernard Richards, Emeritus Fellow, Brasenose College.

“I am bowled over!...your pavements with reflections are really excellent. And the same goes for your architectural curves and ellipses, magnificent... tell me how you do them! Congratulations!”

John Newberry, Former Acting Head- Ruskin School of Drawing. Member: Royal Watercolour Society.

“...atmospheric and vibrant watercolours...a love-letter to the great university city.”

Richard Lofthouse, Editor QUAD, Oxford University Alumni Journal.

“Ian Davis’s lucent watercolours convey light on stone and architecture with rare distinction.”

Tim Pears, Author.

“...the paintings are glorious.”

Christina Hardyment, Author, Former Editor, Oxford Today.

“...the illustrations give us a unique vision of the city, from its great buildings and quirky corners. We see Oxford through the eyes of an artist and architect...in a way that has never before been presented.”

Sir Barry Cunliffe, Emeritus Professor of European Archaeology, University of Oxford.
